MAYOR BADGER WILL NOT RUN

To Serve Another Term as Mayor
Would Mean a Personal Sacrifice on His Part.—Does Not Desire a Fourth Term

Editor of The Herald—There appears to be so many stories in circulation as to my position in the forthcoming election for mayor that I deem it my duty to make clear my position.
Let me say at the outset that there is no truth in the insinuations made in a local paper (not The Herald) that I am seeking a fourth term

The Democratic Ward three held a meeting on Friday night to act on several matters pertaining to the coming municipal election.

Francis P. Clair was elected a ward candidate for the council. The master of a candidate at large came up for lively discussion and former Councilman John Leahy was named and will be recommended to the city committee at the next meeting.

Richard A. Cooney and William Corgan were mentioned, but both decline to go into the field.

Mayor Badger was present and addressed the committee. In the course of his talk he denied that he was affiliated with any movement for a citizen's ticket and declared that he was not a candidate for re-election on any ticket.

CORRIVEAU IS MADE CAPTAIN

Concord Boy Will Guide the Destiny of the New Hampshire Team.

Dover, N. H., Nov. 21.—The following men were awarded their letters in football at New Hampshire College and went to Dover this afternoon to be photographed: Captain, W. H. L.
Brackett, P. E. Corriveau, A. L. Murdoch, J. S. Hobbs, Kyle Westover, J.
F. Thompson, W. F. Parker, R. E.
Haines, R. A. Iluse, H. G. Woodman,
Donald Basell, R. A. Hale, T. J.
Reardon, and Manager, J. E. Davis.
Before the picture was taken an election of captain was held. The two men who seemed to be most prominently spoken for the position were R. E.
Haines and P. E. Corriveau. Haines has played three years on the varsity in the line and backfield. Corriveau has played two years on the team at end and guard. When the ballots were counted it was found that Corriveau was the popular choice.

Corriveau comes from Concord where he was a prominent member of the Concord high school football team playing at fullback. He is 20 years old and weighs 140 pounds. Last year he held down the end position in an able manner, and was played in that position the first part of this season.
When it became apparent that the center of the line needed strengthening he was shifted to guard for, although light he is a hard fighter, has kept his heavier opponents torquing.
He is a popular man in college, has played on his class football teams and his class baseball teams. He is second lieutenant of the military battalion and a member of the Zeta Psi and Zeta fraternity, and of the junior class.

SENATOR HOLLIS IS EXPECTED

Will Address Jefferson Club at Later Date—Vice President
List Increased.

The Jefferson Club held a largely attended meeting on Friday evening and discussed matters pertaining to the election. The names of Representative Whittrap Hoyt of Greenland, and former Representative Oliver B.
Marvin of New Castle were added to the list of vice-presidents.

It has practically been decided that United States Senator Henry F. Hollis will come to this city on a later date to address the organization on political matters in general. Another meeting has been announced for Sunday afternoon.

UPWARDS OF 100 COMING

Members of National and State Grange Will Be Entertained by Local Grange.

A telegram received from Master
Pattie of the State Grange, by George P. Simileon, master of Strawberry Bank Grange, P. of H., this morning, stated that the members of the State and National Grange who would visit this city this afternoon numbered 100 persons. The program as previously published in the Herald will be carried out by the members of Strawberry Bank Grange and the committee.

STEAM DERRICK GONE

Railroad Officials Order it to Portland for Use on Two Railroads.

The steam derrick which has been attached to the wrecking train of the Boston & Maine railroad in this city for the past two years, has been sent to Portland, where it will hereafter be used by both the Boston and Maine and the Maine Central railroads. By this arrangement, the Portsmouth wrecking train reverts to its second class outfit and goes back to where it was in the days of the old Eastern railroad. Naturally this will decrease the efficiency of the Portsmouth wreckers and will mean much harder work for the men laboring with a rig that has been in use a half century.

BUSINESS MAN IS MISSING

Creditors Petition His Firm Into Bankruptcy.—Liabilities Will
Be in Excess of $7,000

C. H. Holmes, President and general manager of the C. H. Holmes Co., general contractors of this city, has been missing for several weeks, and his present whereabouts are unknown.

Today a petition signed by the First National Bank, Rufus Woods and the
A. W. Burrill lumber company, three of the Holmes Company's creditors, was sent to Judge Edgar N. Aldrich of the United States Court asking that the corporation be adjudged bankrupt.

It is believed that the creditors of the Holmes Company will realize but little on their accounts. An accountant is at work on the books of the company and it is estimated that $7,000 have already been found.

The assets of the company it is believed will prove small, as it is thought that Holmes took all the available cash he could secure when he took his departure.

TURKEY PRICES TO TAKE DROP

Some Cooler Weather and All
Will Be Well—Other Things Cheaper Also.

Turkey at a reasonable price is one thing that the average man may have to be thankful for this year, if for little else. Owing to the warm weather, the unsettled financial market, the tariff, Argentine beef, the currency bill and what not, turkeys promise to be several cents a pound cheaper than they were Thanksgiving a year ago.

The best Northern turkeys, the kind our grandmothers used to buy for Vermont turkeys were selling yesterday for from 33 to 35 cents a pound.
This is three to four cents apiece than the same variety brought a week ago, and quite a bit less than last year. Very fine western turkeys were to be had at 28 cents and 30 cents.

This "low" price the dealers claim will drop even further, if the weather grows a little colder so that the shippers will send in more birds. Warm weather does not lend itself to the safe shipping of turkeys. Nor will those killed in warm weather stand up as well. Incidentally if large receipts come in and the temperature rises, birds will probably be pushed for sale,
more lower prices.

Turkey is not alone in the category of edibles for Thanksgiving that have taken a drop. Vegetables, with the exception of string beans, which are selling for 30 cents a quart, are reasonable and plenty. Meats were generally cheaper and "drinks" of all kinds took a drop from the price of the last few days.

DASHED INTO LOCOMOTIVE

Deer Then Escapes With One
Leg and One Horn Gone.

Engineer Ed. Burke of the Conway and Barton express had a queer experience with a deer a few days ago while his train was passing through Onsipe at a rapid clip. He first noticed a shadow by the side of the track and in another instant was surprised to see a large deer dash into the side of his locomotive. In the collision the animal was tossed about twenty feet and the engineer thought of course he was a dead one. On his arrival at the next station he reported it to the section crew who in turn went out on a hunt for the venison and got the surprise of their lives. One horn and a leg was lying between the fence and the track but the deer had disappeared.

The train crew are satisfied that no one was near when the animal was struck and if there had been hunters nearby, they would not have had time enough to get away with the animal before the section men arrived.

MURPHY WAS HIS PARTNER

McGuire Confesses to Holding Up of Asphalt Companies for Contributions.

New York, Nov. 21.—George H. McGuire, the Syracuse bonding agent for state highway and bridge road contractors, is a partner of Charles F. Murphy, Jr., nephew of the leader of Tammany Hall. He so testified today at the John Doe Inquiry into highway graft and said that he had an agreement with Murphy to divide all the bonding business they obtained.

Further, McGuire confessed to having attempted to hold up at least three asphalt companies for $5,000 contributions to the state democratic committee in return for getting a state contract. He testified that he had held a similar conversation with this city with Ellsworth Condit, New York agent of the Union Oil Company.

Explains Connections with Murphy. In regard to his association with Charles F. Murphy, Jr., in the bonding business, McGuire said that he had an agreement with the Tammany leader's nephew which embraced a division of expenses and contributions on the bonding of all bridge canal, state highway, subway and aqueduct contracts. They both represented the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, he said, and last year they had together obtained about 30 per cent. of state highway bonding business.

McGuire who preceded on the stand by Edward P. Dugard, a Buffalo contractor and chairman of the democratic general committee of Erie county, from which position he recently ousted William H. Fitzpatrick.

Dugard testified that he had a $2,500,000 state bridge canal contract and two smaller contracts for paving roads in Erie county. He had contributed $10,000 personally to the democratic state committee in 1911 and in 1912 had turned over $6000 in contributions from other contractors which he said had been given to him by Reeve Smith of Fulton, N. Y., a consulting engineer. The checks therefor were drawn to the order of Norman E. Macle, he added.

STABLE MANURE FOR THE GARDEN

DEN.

By C. A. Mooers.

Tennessee Experiment Station

The best material for the garden and for general soil upbuilding is manure. This homely product may be well thought of in America, but only abroad; where often a living must be got from small plots of ground, its true value appreciated. How many American farmers repeat with fervor the Danish proverb, "It is manure that puts the cake on the table?" A sentiment like that would certainly change some of our methods.

Complete scientific studies have been made in Germany to find out the best methods of saving and using stable manure. The conclusions reached are at variance not only with our common practice, but also with advice often seen in print. We will do well, therefore, to consider their most important recommendations.

First—Only enough litter should be used in the gutters to take up the liquid manure. An excess of straw, and especially of coarse litter such as cornhusks, should be avoided.

Second.—Preservatives, such as kainite and plaster, iron sulphate, etc., are seldom, if ever, profitable and are not advised.

Third.—The manure pit should have as cool a location as possible and should be covered to prevent loss by leaching.

Fourth.—To reduce the loss of nitrogen, the most valuable element, the heap must be kept compacted and moist so as to exclude the air. The best results are obtained where cattle can be turned in to tramp down the heap, but tramping should be done by a man along the sides and at the corners of the pit. Also the watering of the heap may be necessary.

Fifth.—The manure from different kinds of live stock should be spread separately in even layers over the pit. In this way the light and easily decomposed horse manure can be protected by a covering of heavy cow manure.

Sixth.—Manure allowed to accumulate under the animals ("deep stuff" manure) suffers the least loss of nitrogen, and pound for pound is more effective than any other kind. It should not, however, be left to dry out, as it is apt to be the case when the cattle are permanently removed, but should either be hauled out with little delay or well protected by a mulch of earth, straw or the like; otherwise heating and a marked loss of the most valuable part of the nitrogen will take place.

Seventh.—When hauled out manure should not be put in piles to be scattered at another time, but should be spread at once.

PRACTICALLY CLEAN MILK

By C. B. Lane,

Department of Agriculture

The reason milk soups is because it's dirty. There's a sample of milk in a college laboratory that is ten years old and sweet. This is clean milk. It is not necessary, however, to produce this kind of milk. Next to clean milk there is certified milk, which is found in all cities. This is produced under direction of county medical milk commissions, which have strict regulation as to production. Cows must be washed, kept clean and healthy, stables kept scrupulously clean, milkers pronounced healthy by a physician, be clean and wear special suits. Milk must be drawn and handled under sanitary conditions and not contain over 10,000 bacteria to the c.c. (steen drops).

Certified milk interests only few dentists. Many are anxious to produce milk practically clean, better than the ordinary product, and which returns better prices than commonly received. This is not difficult to accomplish. Hundreds do it successfully and instead of receiving 4 cents per quart, receive 5 and sometimes 6 cents. What are the requirements for producing this milk? It requires no expensive stables or expensive equipment. A few changes often place "just milk" in the "practically clean milk" class.

THE ASHLAND DAIRY PLAN!!

By Roy H. Beebe,

Bee Ashland Co-operative Dairy Co.

What of the success of the Ashland dairy plan? A question asked of the Commercial club of Ashland, Wis., regarding its co-operative cow buying and rural credit experiment.

A revolving fund of $10,000 was placed in the hands of two trustees by two local national banks, thus keeping local money at home, formerly sent to larger money centers. Five carloads of high grade and registered Guernsey and Holstein foundation stock were brought to Ashland within six months. The Commercial club (by the co-operative buying plan) had the assistance of experts of the college of agriculture and the United States department of agriculture. In pooling the purchase of some fifty pioneer farmers the prorata expense of making the purchase (including freight and all incidental expenses) was $7.75 on the first lot and $4.00 on the last lot for each animal.

Thus far, farmers have met monthly payments and interest obligations faithfully. It is strictly a business proposition and new settlers realize they are establishing credit with local banks, guarding jealousy their publications for making prompt payment, so one serious objection urged against the plan has proved unfounded. The interest rate charged farmers is 7 per cent and money loaned farmers is borrowed from national banks by trustees at 6 per cent, the difference of 1 per cent in the interest rate being sufficient to provide for incidental expenses. By loaning national bank funds through two trustees the necessity is avoided of short time loans to farmers. The trustees renew their notes every three months, while farmers' notes run for three years. As farmers are reducing their obligations monthly, the money is returned to the trustees revolving fund and made available for purchase of more cows as farmers increase acreage of cleared land, and can provide feed for more stock.

The moral effect of the scheme has been most encouraging and dairymen is now the focus of the efforts of business men and farmers. Three new creameries have begun operations, prices of butter fat are 2 cents above the Chicago market, and cream checks are in evidence in bank clearings. Farmers around Ashland realize they are on trial, and business men of Ashland, who have guaranteed banks against loss, take highest interest in the success of their former friends. The old spirit of suspicion and misunderstanding has disappeared which formerly existed between rural and city residents, and banks are extending credit accommodations to former who a year ago were unknown.

WOULD HAVE A FEDERAL UNIVERSITY

Washington Nov. 21.—By special action seized upon members and employees of the Senate Committee on the University of the United States today, when it was learned that the chairman, Senator Dillingham, had announced his intention of introducing and pressing a bill for the establishment of a university under Federal control.

The committee has not had a meeting in years and has existed principally to afford new members a chairmanship, a committee room and the allowances for secretary and clerks that go with committee appointments. Hence the stir.

"I believe thoroughly in the establishment of such a university in Washington," said Senator Dillingham. "It should, of course, be an institution for graduate and advanced work. The great Government Departments lend themselves to this very description of work."

This declaration has shattered the somnolency of the committee room and the ancient cobwebs today are being swept out by astonished porters.

FRENCH RIFLE TEAM WINS

Nice, France, Nov. 21.—A rifle team from the United States battleship Utah had a shooting contest yesterday with the crack team of the Twenty-fourth Battalion of Chasseurs and three teams from the One Hundred and Sixty Third Infantry. The Americans had no difficulty in defeating the infantry teams, but the Chasseurs proved too strong, scoring twenty-three points to the Utah's sixteen.

The Anonymous Letter Writer.

One of the means of character assassins is the anonymous letter writer, who for some fancied grievance assails the character of some respected citizen with anonymous letters usually sent through the mail. The news comes from Brooklyn, that a prominent physician of that place recently committed suicide as a result of this form of annoyance which had been sent to him for several months. The postoffice authorities were unable to identify the letter writer. The physician himself was unable to locate his malignant enemy. He worried over the matter until he was completely unnerved and his self-slaughter occurred during a spell of temporary insanity, as indicated by an incoherent note he wrote before taking poison.

An exchange, commenting on the case says:

"While the physician was weak, the unknown writer was guilty of homicide. He or she may not have contemplated such results, but the letters were evidently planned to destroy his means of livelihood. Judging from the number of anonymous communications that reach the newspaper offices, there must be hundreds of malevolent cowards abroad in the land. It is a peculiar form of insanity that prompts a man to send an unsigned letter to annoy his enemy. Often the recipient suspects an entirely innocent party and the anonymous coward really injures an individual he does not know and against whom he has no grudge. There seems to be no way to stop the practice, although the postal authorities by due diligence may reduce it to the minimum, but there is a way to avert injury. No recipient of an anonymous communication should allow it to annoy him. Many happy homes would have remained unbroken but for the suspicion aroused by the anonymous letter fiend. Such communications generally should be thrown into the waste basket without a further thought, unless they happen to be of a character that will warrant prosecution of the sender, when they should be turned over to the postal authorities."

Street Oiling Has Been Overdone.

Of late years the use of oil on the streets has become prevalent in many cities. While this method of laying the dust in the country is an excellent one, it has its disadvantages in the city, where the streets are more frequently traveled. Commenting on the oiling of streets the Malden News has the following to say:

"We think this oiling of streets has seen its best days as far as residential streets are concerned. We believe that in cities where the authorities have a proper regard for the rights of tax payers we shall see the watering carts back on the streets which are infrequently traveled. The street oiling fad has been overdone by the aggressive agents who have oil to sell. We are tired of having our side streets made a mess of twice a year while the oil is dumped on in puddles here and piles of muck there. Every housewife will welcome back the watering carts. And the stench of oil for several days will be over when the watering carts are back. And the roots of the shade trees will have a show once more. We can breathe the balmy pure air and drink in the fragrance of roses without a petroleum mixture for when the oil had dried up on one street the next street was sloshed with it. We can have the watering carts out when the first spring dust comes and won't have to await the wrangling of the authorities over what kind of oil to buy and without awaiting until July for delayed shipments. The oiling of main highways may be all right but public sentiment is against it on the smaller streets. Next spring will be worth living for if the watering cart will roll by once more."

In our news columns today Mayor Badger sets at rest the stories that he would be a candidate for a fourth term. By the tenor of his letter Mayor Badger has evidently had his fill of partisan politics as practiced in this city.

To Constant Reader—We are not sure that the author of "When Dreams Come True," had any reference to the proposed new bridge across the Piscataqua River.

No one can dispute the fact that Harry K. Thaw has put the city of Concord on the map and made business good for the Eagle hotel, outside of the legislative session.

At the present time it is said that a number of local politicians have their ear glued to the ground, anxiously awaiting the rumble of the band wagon.

A cordial welcome is extended to the National Grange and may they go away with pleasant recollections of New Hampshire's only seaport.

As the holiday season approaches it would be well for our citizens not to forget to "Trade in Portsmouth."

Some of the local political prophets are working overtime at the present.

Huerta Shown Embracing General Who Now Fights Against Him.

President Huerta of Mexico and General Obregon were warm friends in the past. They fought together during old-time troubles. The photo shows them embracing in this characteristic Mexican fashion. If they met today, however, the scene would be different, for Obregon has joined the anti-Huerta forces. Obregon was one of the chief supporters of Madero when the latter headed the revolt against Diaz.

however, is not a reason for my candidacy and I am positively not a candidate for a fourth term. I earnestly hope that men of character and ability will be nominated by each of the political parties which will assure efficient management of the municipal affairs.

DANIEL W. BADGER.

PROGRESSIVE NOTES.

The progressive ward committees in the different wards met last evening and recommended candidates for nomination in their respective wards. Next week the progressive city committee will complete the ticket by recommending four members of the council at large and members of the board of instruction to be nominated at the progressive caucus on Nov. 29.

The question of "Free or Subsidized ships" that will be discussed at the progressive forum next Tuesday evening in A. V. U. hall is attracting a great deal of attention in the city, as it would help our city if the merchant marine was revived as we offer facilities for shipbuilding and commerce that surpass all other ports.

The public is invited to these debates which are non-political.

After the ward committees met last evening, they all adjourned to the beautiful home on Middle street of their candidate for mayor, Oscar G. Alchel, and assured him of loyal support at the polls, Dec. 9.

INSPECTORS RAID OPIUM CENTRE

Seize Thousands of Dollars Worth of Drug in Chinese Store at Portland.

Portland, Me., Nov. 21.—In the arrest here this afternoon of Wing Chin Tang the customs inspectors of New England feel that they have located and broken up the head of the opium trade in New England among the Chinese.

The arrest made by Inspectors Owen P. McKenna and Thomas F. Flanagan of Boston. These men have been working on the case for several months though it has been suspected that Portland was concerned in the illegal traffic for over two years. In Providence, Boston and other cities, they have found packages that came from Portland and their attention was finally centered on this city.

Thursday the officers arrived in Portland and watched the place at 18 Portland street, supposed to be a grocery store. During the time they sat in there they found no evidence of a grocery trade, but did see Chinese passing in and out of the rear of the building.

This morning they were early at the place but found the doors closed. Wishing to arouse no suspicion they waited until the store was opened in the afternoon and then entered. They at once went to the rear and there they found eight Chinese, some of whom were smoking opium and others were preparing to have a pipe.

Wing Chin Tang was preparing the drug and admitted that he was the proprietor. He was placed under arrest, while there was a scuffle on the part of the other Chinamen to escape. This was not successful for the officers bolted the door and made it known by their manner that the men were held securely. When they were told that only Tang was wanted they quieted down.

Tang was taken to the Cumberland County Jail tonight as Commissioner Bradley was out of the city. He will be taken to Augusta in the morning to be arraigned before Commissioner Harrington.

In addition to securing the alleged proprietor, Inspectors McKenna and Flanagan captured several thousand dollars worth of opium, pipes and the full paraphernalia of the place. This was sealed up to be used as evidence.

CURRENT OPINION

Prizes of the Panama Canal Are Not Going to Us Unless We Strive For Them.

There is a growing need that every manufacturing and productive city and section in the United States should be up and doing and getting ready for the Panama Canal. It is equally important that cities and states should realize the present and prospective value of Pan-American commerce. We have the enterprise, the men, the capital, the industries, the location and, I hope, the ambition which can enable us to profit enormously from the opening of the canal and from the development of the exchange of trade with the twenty sister Latin-American republics.

We cannot, however, simply rest upon our present laurels and be satisfied. We must realize the competition which we must meet, with the great manufacturing, exporting and importing centers of Europe and even Asia.

The prizes of the Panama Canal are not going to us unless they are fought for with unremitting effort.

It will require time for the full good of the Canal to be realized by any city or section of the United States. Business must adapt itself to the new conditions, and the accompanying influences of demand and supply must be thoroughly studied and mastered.—John Barrett, Director General of the Pan-American Union.

ADMIRAL THANKS THE WORKMEN

Letter From Association Also Pleases Secretary of the Navy.

The Master Workmen at the Norfolk navy yard who are apparently pleased with a commandant such as Admiral Doyle, made an appeal to him to release him retained at that station. They addressed a letter to Secretary of the Navy Daniels who in turn forwarded it to Admiral Doyle, accompanied by another letter of praise over his signature. The following is the correspondence:

United States Navy Yard, Norfolk, Va.

Commandant's Office.

October 18, 1913.

Master Workmen's Association,
Navy Yard, Norfolk, Va.

Gentlemen—I am enclosing copy of a communication addressed to me by the Honorable Secretary of the Navy, referring to a letter forwarded to him from your organization.

Please accept my heartfelt thanks for the high compliment conveyed in your resolution. In this connection I wish to assure you that the efficiency and high standard of this naval establishment is due in a great measure to the hearty co-operation of the master workmen of this yard.

Precious to my departure from the department to the department of commerce, I will be especially pleased to thank each of you personally for the invaluable assistance you have rendered in making my administration at this station so pleasing and satisfactory to me by reason of its success as attested by you.

Very respectfully,

R. M. DOYLE,

Rear Admiral, U. S. Navy.

The Secretary of the Navy,
Washington.

October 16, 1913.

My Dear Admiral Doyle:

I am in receipt of a letter signed by twenty master workmen of the Norfolk navy yard. I congratulate you and the department upon this testimonial, which I should think you would value most highly. Of course you know very well that your orders, was received solely by my feeling that every naval officer in every grade ought to have sea service, and that this ought to apply to admirals as well as to those of lower rank. I trust and believe you will like your new assignment and find it very pleasant.

I am enclosing herewith the communication to which I refer above, thinking you may wish to preserve it. I certainly should if it were written about me.

With warm regards, believe me,

Sincerely yours,

JOSEPHUS DANIELS.

Rear Admiral Robert M. Doyle,

Commandant, Norfolk Navy Yard.

DR. MARBLE DIES SUDDENLY

Interstate Commerce Commissioner Stricken With Acute Indigestion.

Washington, Nov. 21.—John H. Marble, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, died here today following an attack of acute indigestion by which he was stricken yesterday in Philadelphia.

Dr. Marble's death came very unexpectedly, not even the members of his family being warned of the approach of end.

The commissioner returned home from Philadelphia last night, where he had been conducting the commission's investigation of anthracite coal carrying roads.

He had been taken suddenly ill and his condition was so serious that it was decided to postpone the hearings and bring him home.

He apparently was much improved when he arrived here, a physician was called but there seemed to be no indication that the patient's condition was dangerous.

Improvement continued until this evening when Mr. Marble was attacked with pneumonia again. He died at 7:30 a few moments after arrival.

News Shocks Washington

The news shocked Washington officials, especially Mr. Marble's associates on the commission.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed tonight but the body probably will be taken to Mr. Marble's old home in San Francisco for interment.

Mr. Marble had been connected with the Interstate commerce commission for a number of years and was thoroughly trained in its intricate workings. He first came here in 1906 as confidential clerk to Franklin H. Lane, now secretary of the department of the interior. Shortly afterward he was made attorney in charge of the division of prosecutions. Later he was appointed secretary of the commission, to succeed Edward A. Mosley. In this capacity he acted as legal adviser to the commission. He succeeded Mr. Lane when the latter entered President Wilson's cabinet, and had been active in the commission's cases, particularly its criminal prosecutions. During the Borner investigation in the senate he was given a leave of absence to appear as counsel for the investigating committee.

Before coming here he practiced law and engaged in newspaper work on the Pacific coast.

A BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

On Wednesday evening a most enjoyable event occurred, it being the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Williams of 290 Cass street. This estimable lady was invited to take tea with a friend. While about fifty of her friends stealthily invaded her home they trespassed in the night, and like the spider and the fly awaited the arrival of their victim, to ensure her in the darkness of their good will. The surprise was complete. After greeting her unexpected guests a social time was enjoyed during which hot coffee and cocoa was poured by Misses Avia Varnell and Alberta Adams. Fancy cakes were served by Misses Bernice and Beatrice Frye.

During the evening, Rev. E. P. Moulton, in behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Pearl Street church, in a felicitous manner, presented her with a beautiful china toilet set which she accepted in a few happy words.

After this the following music was enjoyed: Piano duet by Mrs. O. L. Frisbee, Miss Avia Varnell; vocal solo, Rev. E. P. Moulton; violin solos, Mr. Joseph E. Frisbee.

Her grandson came home from New Hampshire college especially for this happy event. She received many beautiful gifts of flowers, fruit and fancy articles from neighbors and friends.

At a late hour good-wishes and many happy returns were said, each guest being given a piece of the birthday cake, decorated with many candles.

LAXATIVE FOR OLD PEOPLE—"CASCARETS"

Salt, Calomel and Pills, Act on Liver and Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils—Danger!

Get a 10-cent box now. Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic; the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets, one might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as in neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never as much so as at forty.

Age is not a time for harsh physician youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only ten cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

POLITICAL REFUGEES TAKEN ON U. S. WARSHIPS

Given Protection From Mexicans--
No Change Made in Situation.

Vera Cruz, Mex., Nov. 21.—Evaristo and Daniel Madero, relatives of the late President, were taken today on board the American flagship from the American consulate where they had taken refuge last night.

ASYLUM FOR THE MADEROS

President Decided to Take Them Aboard an American Warship at Vera Cruz, as Was Feltz Diaz.

Washington, Nov. 21.—There was no Cabinet meeting today, but the President saw Secretaries Garrison and Bryan and Acting Sec. Roosevelt of the navy. Dispatches received from Rear Admiral Fletcher were discussed.

Later it became known that Admiral Fletcher dispatched a gunboat to the coast opposite where lay a steamer launch with an armed crew of bluejackets from the battleship Rhode Island. The refugees stopped on board the launch, which then started off for the flagship.

As they were bidding goodby to Mr. Lind at the launch, Evaristo Madero exclaimed: "Only God can save Mexico," to which his brother added, "But only with the help of the United States."

Madero replied: "Yes, that is true. The party had been followed to the launch at a respectful distance by a solitary detective, who had been watching the consulate all night."

Consul Had Refused Demand

Evaristo and Daniel, brothers of the late President Madero, who were released yesterday up boat from confinement in the fortress of San Juan Ulua, took shelter in the American consulate. Consul William W. Condon having received orders from Washington to inform them anything.

A request for their delivery made by Col. Eugenio Gutierrez, adj. of Gen. Gustavo Muniz, Federal commander of Vera Cruz, was promptly denied today by the consul, upon which it was reported that veiled threats had been made to take the refugees by force from the consulate.

In anticipation of any such attempt a steam launch from the American battleship Rhode Island lay all morning off the sea wall opposite the consulate, with a crew of armed bluejackets on board, ready to come ashore at a moment's notice.

The refugees were held in the consulate without being permitted to communicate with anybody, and not even their wives were allowed to visit them.

John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, conferred to-day with Rear Admiral Fletcher, commander of the American fleet, and also completely sent and received dispatches to and from Washington.

Madero and Daniel Madero are brothers of the late President. Evaristo was graduated from Cornell state College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y., the same week as his brother was assassinated in February last. He went at once to John, Mrs. Madero at Monterey, Mex., and the brothers were

LEVY MADE ON FOREIGNERS

Waters-Pierce Company Refuses to Pay It and Orders Employees to Ask Consul's Protection.

Mexico City, Nov. 21.—The fact that Nelson A. Stinchfield, American charge d'affaires has had two conferences with the Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs during the past few days became known here today. The exact character of those meetings and the nature of the conversation were, however, not made known, the only thing gathered in connection with the conferences being that their net result was to leave the situation unchanged.

Assurances were given at the Embassy today that no instructions had been received from Washington for charge Stinchfield to leave his post, but it is known that his personal affairs are in such order that he could leave at an hour's notice if the necessity arose.

A levy of 500,000 pesos has been made at Monterey to pay the troops there, according to reliable reports. It is stated that the American Smelting & Refining Company's contribution toward this amount was 25,000 pesos (about $12,500.)

A demand was made by the Federal military authorities on all foreign interests concerning in Monterey for cash to provide for the maintenance of the army in that district. From the Monterey Steel Company 20,000 pesos was exacted and from the Waters-Pierce Oil Company 15,000 pesos, while others were taxed in proportion to their importance.

The managers here of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company instructed their representatives in Monterey to refuse payment of the levy and to place themselves and the property of the company under the protection of the American consul.

Hard Fighting at Ciudad Victoria.
Hard fighting was reported today as still in progress about Ciudad Victoria, the capital of the state of Tamaulipas, according to information issued by the War Office here.

Although the city was said to have been captured by the Rebels last Tuesday, it is now maintained that Gen. Antonio Salazar, the Federal commander, is still holding the place, although continuous fighting has gone on inside the city for the last 24 hours. He is said to be under Gen. Ruperto Navarro, another Federal commander, while others were taxed in proportion to their importance.

President Wilson's Representative Caught by Camera In Mexico

Dr. William Bayard Hale, the personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico, has been conducting important negotiations with General Carranza, the Constitutional leader. Dr. Hale is said to have offered Carranza the support of the United States provided the latter agreed to certain conditions considered vital by the Washington authorities. In the illustration Dr. Hale is shown at his desk in the American consulate in Nogales, in the province of Sonora, Mexico.

He gave an hour's notice if the necessary arose.
